

ARRL FOUNDATION

Administering Programs to Support the Amateur Radio Community

The ARRL Scholarship Program

The ARRL Foundation Scholarship Program awards more than 150 scholarships annually to high school and collegiate amateur radio operators who are pursuing their goal of higher education. Awards range from $500 to $25,000, and are exclusively for educational expenses such as tuition, fees, room and board, and books. Scholarships are made possible thanks to the generosity of individual donors and amateur radio clubs.

- Who can apply?

ARRL Foundation Scholarships are open to all active, licensed amateur radio operators. Many scholarships have eligibility criteria, such as fields of study and regional requirements.

Scholarship descriptions can be found at www.arrl.org/scholarship-program.

- How do I apply?

The ARRL Foundation Scholarship application period usually runs annually from late October through December. Exact dates are determined each year and are posted on ARRL's website. Only one application is required to apply for all scholarships. The application is online and will appear on the website when the annual cycle opens.

- When will I know if I receive an award?

After the ARRL Foundation Scholarship Committee reviews all applications, scholarship recipients are notified by e-mail in early spring. All scholarships are determined through a competitive review process. Scholarship recipients are expected to prepare a letter of acknowledgement to the sponsor of the scholarship they receive. Recipients are listed, with their photos, in the September issue of QST. Award checks are sent directly to the college or university the recipient is attending.
